

External Digital Antenna UHF AE 1216

- » Compatible with any TV model or digital converter*;
- » Made of aluminium and plastic with UV treatment, with greater resistance and durability.
- » High signal gain, for better image quality;
- » Convenience and easy installation;
- » 16-element log antenna and rear connector;
- » Does not include mast and cable.

*older televisions may require the use of a digital converter to transmit the digital signal

The AE 1216 is a UHF log antenna for outdoor environments, which provides picture and sound with excellent quality and high definition. Designed to capture UHF and digital HDTV signals, it has a system that allows high signal gain.

Technical Specifications

|                            |                            |
|----------------------------|----------------------------|
| Type                       | Periodic Log               |
| Operating Frequency        | 470 - 806 MHz              |
| Operation Band             | UHF                        |
| Connector                  | "F" Front Female           |
| Material                   | Aluminium                  |
| Number of Elements         | 16                         |
| Signal Gain                | 11 dBi                     |
| Antenna Dimensions (HxWxD) | 49,84 x 647,89 x 320,56 mm |

|                       |           |
|-----------------------|-----------|
| Collective Teller     | 10 pieces |
| Warranty              | 1 year    |
| Weight with Packaging | 443g      |

Package Content

- » 1 external TV antenna;
- » 1 fixing kit.